Get Real! Nonfiction for Kids and Teens Through practical experience booktalking to thousands of kids, School Library Journal columnist, Kathleen Baxter, feels that nonfiction can be the key to getting kids to read. Participants will be motivated and energized as they acquire a practical knowledge of nonfiction books, booktalking, and book appeal factors.

Speaker: Kathleen Baxter

*Kathleen Baxter is a children's literature consultant who does many workshops every year for The Bureau of Education and Research, has written numerous books including Gotcha: Non-Fiction
Booktalks to Get Kids Excited about Reading. She has had a column on nonfiction booktalking for School Library Journal since 1996 and consults with several nonfiction publishers.*

The Books That are Getting the Buzz.
What books are getting the most starred reviews and media attention?
Which ones do the experts say are the best of the year? Which ones might take the big awards? Which ones will work for your classroom?

The Utah Library Association's Children's Services Round Table & Young Adult Round Table present the 2009 Summer Workshop:

Get Real! Nonfiction for Kids & Teens

There is a wealth of nonfiction topics popular with young readers —"Great Disasters," "Unsolved Mysteries," "Gross Bodily Functions," to name only a few. And, there are thousands of nonfiction books for children published each year. This workshop will make it easier for you to find the best (and most appealing) nonfiction books for children and teens, and offer concrete, tested ideas for presenting them to readers in irresistible ways including booktalking, programming and merchandising.

Make a weekend of
